

Barclays Hands On

At a further meeting with Barclays we recently discussed Time-2-Time volunteering where a group of people come together to from all walks of life to collate information and place into envelopes for charities. Four times a year we are approached by a local charity that require 2500 + envelopes to go out. Barclays jumped at the chance and offered their services for a couple of hours.

‘We stayed longer than planned as we were having such a fun time and wanted to see the final batch of envelopes fulfilled.’
